

GigaScience on the road...

Scott Edmunds

Published July 13, 2011

Citation

Edmunds, S. (n.d.). In GigaBlog. GigaBlog. <https://doi.org/10.59350/6y1t7-zcd50>

Keywords

Publishing, Conferences, ISMB

Copyright

Copyright © Scott Edmunds 2011. Distributed under the terms of the Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International License, which permits unrestricted use, distribution, and reproduction in any medium, provided the original author and source are credited.

GigaScience on the roadAfter the launch of the GigaScience website last week, and a call for papers this week, it's now time to start meeting and talking with potential authors. After a busy batch of conferences hosted by the BGI, including the first meeting of the Earth Microbiome Project (see the slides and video of our talk) and last weeks Bio-IT APAC meeting, our editors are now heading out on the road with a busy summer season of conferences lined up. Follow their updates and coverage of the meetings on the GigaScience and BGI_Events twitter pages, and feel free to arrange a chat about your work and the journal and database.

This week, GigaScience editor Scott Edmunds will be talking to the Computational Biology community at the ISMB/ECCB meeting in Vienna. Feel free to track him down via the BioMed Central booth (#11). Alexandra Basford will also be exploring big data issues in Neuroscience at IBRO in Florence, followed by CNS*2011 in Stockholm. Hope to see many of you there!

The post GigaScience on the road... appeared first on GigaBlog.