

“Make all research results CC-BY”

Egon Willighagen

Published April 15, 2008

Citation

Willighagen, E. (2008). “Make all research results CC-BY”. In chem-bla-ics. chem-bla-ics. <https://doi.org/10.59350/ea32r-wsp54>

Keywords

Openscience

Abstract

While I do not agree in details on the statement made by Klaus, I agree with his intentions, and happy to propagate the mantra, like others did before me:

Copyright

Copyright © Egon Willighagen 2008. Distributed under the terms of the Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International License, which permits unrestricted use, distribution, and reproduction in any medium, provided the original author and source are credited.

chem-bla-ics

While I do not agree in details on the statement made by Klaus, I agree with his intentions, and happy to propagate the mantra, like others did before me:

MAKE ALL RESEARCH RESULTS CC-BY

The details I disagree with:

- no need for shouting; we can all perfectly well read it in lower case
- CC-BY is not required; any open data license will do

Now, I know some of you disagree, and I understand the costs for maintaining and curating a database. But, if all research results would be freely available, these costs can be shared by the community, and we could all stand on the shoulders of giants.