Via SciFoo Planet (from Partial immortalization) I learned about TouchGraph Google (Peter brought it into Chemical blogspace). It's cool, though not open source. Here's the touch graph for my blog:

As you can see, plenty of blogspot bloggers around me, among which, in purple, Useful Chemistry. Funny thing is, each time I repeat the Google search, the output is different. Oh, and make sure to drag one of the halos around; that will keep you procrastinating for the whole afternoon :)
